DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 9-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 9, line 4, it is not clear what is encompassed by the term "preferably" regarding the phrase "closed to vapour diffusion". The term "preferably" is indefinite as to the scope of the claim, since it is not clear whether the narrower expression is a claim limitation.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 9-15, 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Shickel 4,902,550.

Shickel describes a laminated insulating material (which corresponds to the claimed invention of an insulation element), (column 2, lines 19-23). Shickel describes at least two layers of an insulation medium which corresponds to the claimed nonwoven layer with the "and/or foam layer", (column 2, lines 23-42). Shickel describes the layers can have openings corresponding to the claimed "through openings" so that vapor can pass through, (column 2, lines 35-43). Shickel describes other layers which encompass the insulation layers corresponding to the film layer of the claimed invention, (column 2, lines 43-54; column 3, lines 20-68; column 5, lines 3-64). It is the Examiner's position that Shickel describes the essential limitations of the claimed invention. The Examiner interprets flame retardant to be the same as thermal resistant, (column 3, lines 44-46). Claims lack novelty.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 16,17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Shickel 4,902,550 in view of Botsolas 4,054,710.

Shickel describes a laminated insulation material with at least two layers of insulation medium, (see abstract). Shickel as above in paragraph # 4. Shickel differs because it is silent about the specific flame retardants.

Botsolas describes an insulation blanket with PET and polyvinyl fluoride, (see abstract). Botsolas describes polyvinylfluoride film is tough and almost chemically inert (which corresponds to the claimed fire retardant of the claimed invention), (column 9, lines 6-11).

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to employ the chemically inert polyvinyl fluoride material as the flame retardant of Botsolas in the laminate of Shickel motivated with the expectation that improved properties of a thermal barrier would be evidenced and flame retardancy .
